ABOUT US

Twenty years ago Valerio Fumagalli gave life to the EGV1 in the most famous district of Italy for the production of textiles between Varese and Como. At the beginning he specialized in the creation and production of uniforms, for most of the world's airlines.

In 20 years, since this sector still represents a part of the company's turnover, more than 50 airlines have relied on and EGV1 provides all the clothing for ground and flight crew; to name a couple Fumagalli remembers the large orders for Alitalia and Etihad Airways.

The passion for motorsport and friendship with drivers and managers led him, in the beginning of 2000, to enter that world and to propose himself as supplier of the uniforms and accessories of the Teams. At first is the Yamaha, at the time of Jorge Lorenzo, then in the world of 4 wheels and rallies.

This year's entry into the gotha of motor sports: the formula 1, a complex world that requires a particular professionalism and attention: the choice falls on the Alfa Romeo-sauber.

All uniforms of personnel, mechanics and pilots are designed, produced and marked EGV1. It's a big commitment, just think that only for Alfa Romeo-sauber are 12,000/15,000 garments supplied per year; from socks to hat from T-shirts to windproof and water resistant jackets is all provided by EGV1, which also has the exclusive right for marketing to the public in the world of garments worn by drivers and the Team.

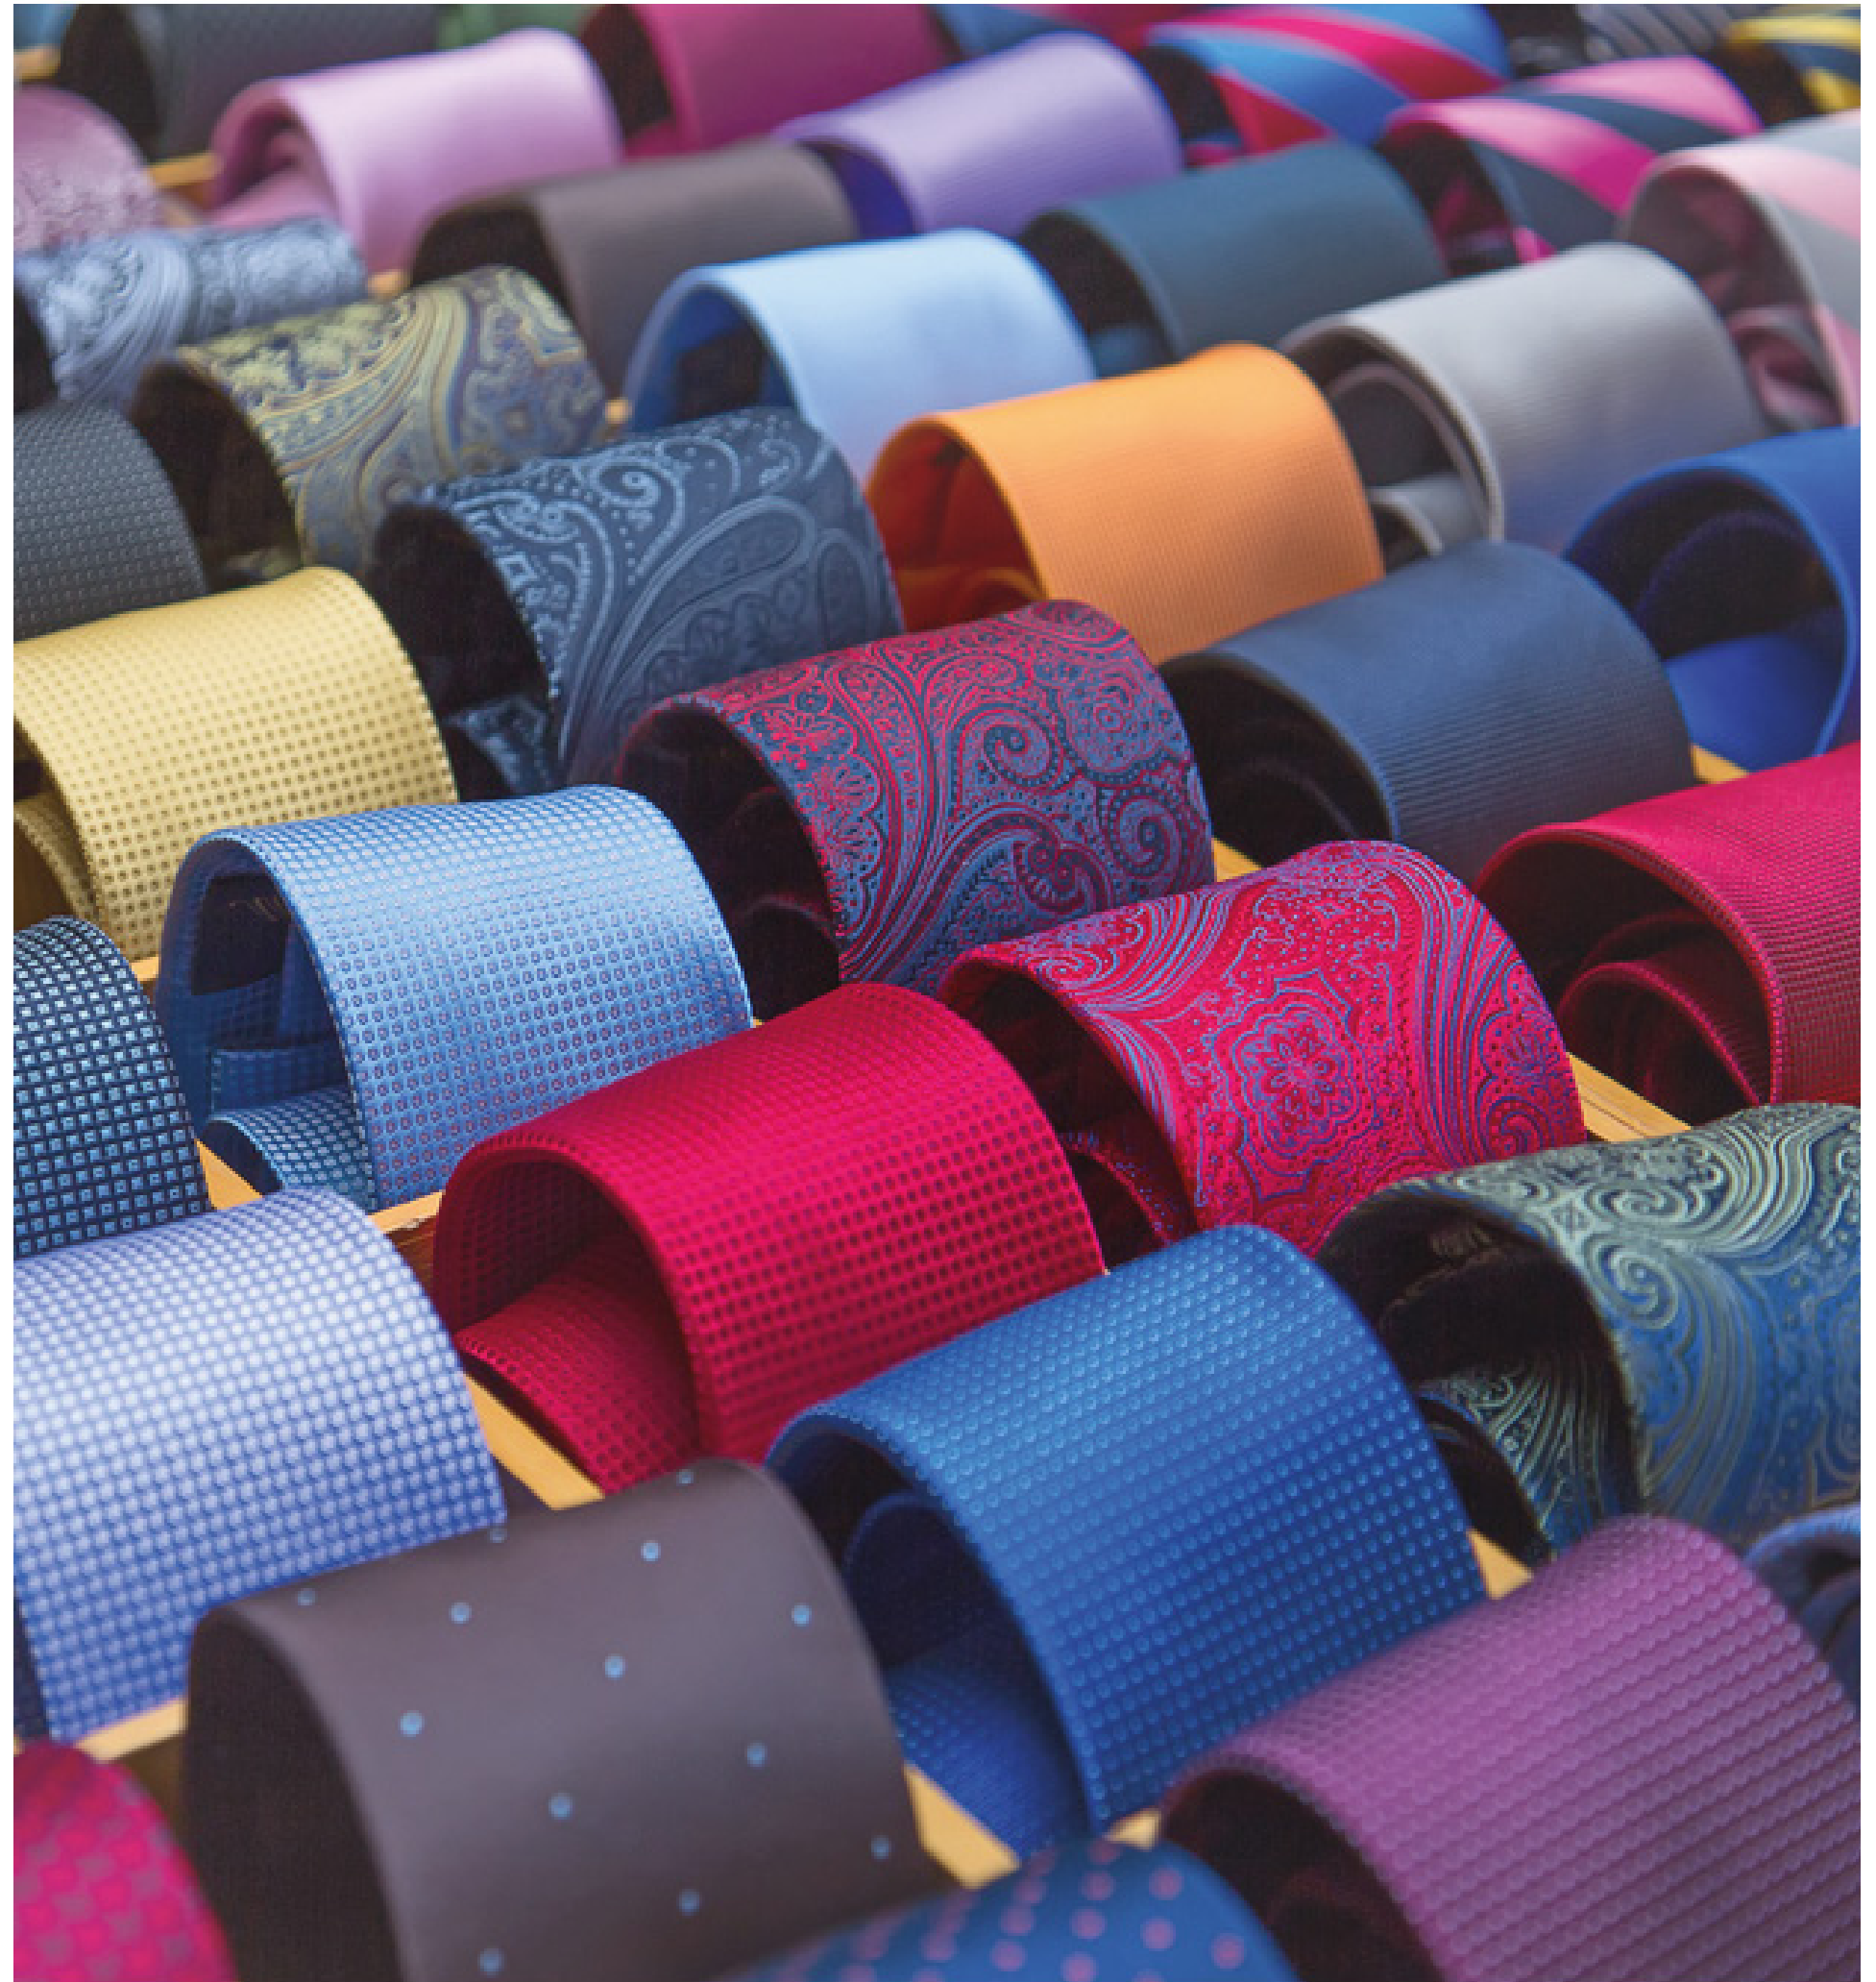

Antonio Giovinazzi and Kimi Raikkonen are the "testimonial" indirect on the track of the Italian company.

OUR VALUE

We owe our success to a simple but essential philosophy: Client Satisfaction.

This has also been defined as one of our core value. We attempt to be a trusted partner to all our customers.

Excellence in delivering high quality, optimizing production techniques combined with long experience made us excel in whole distribution and drove us to be a leader in the fashion design marketplace.

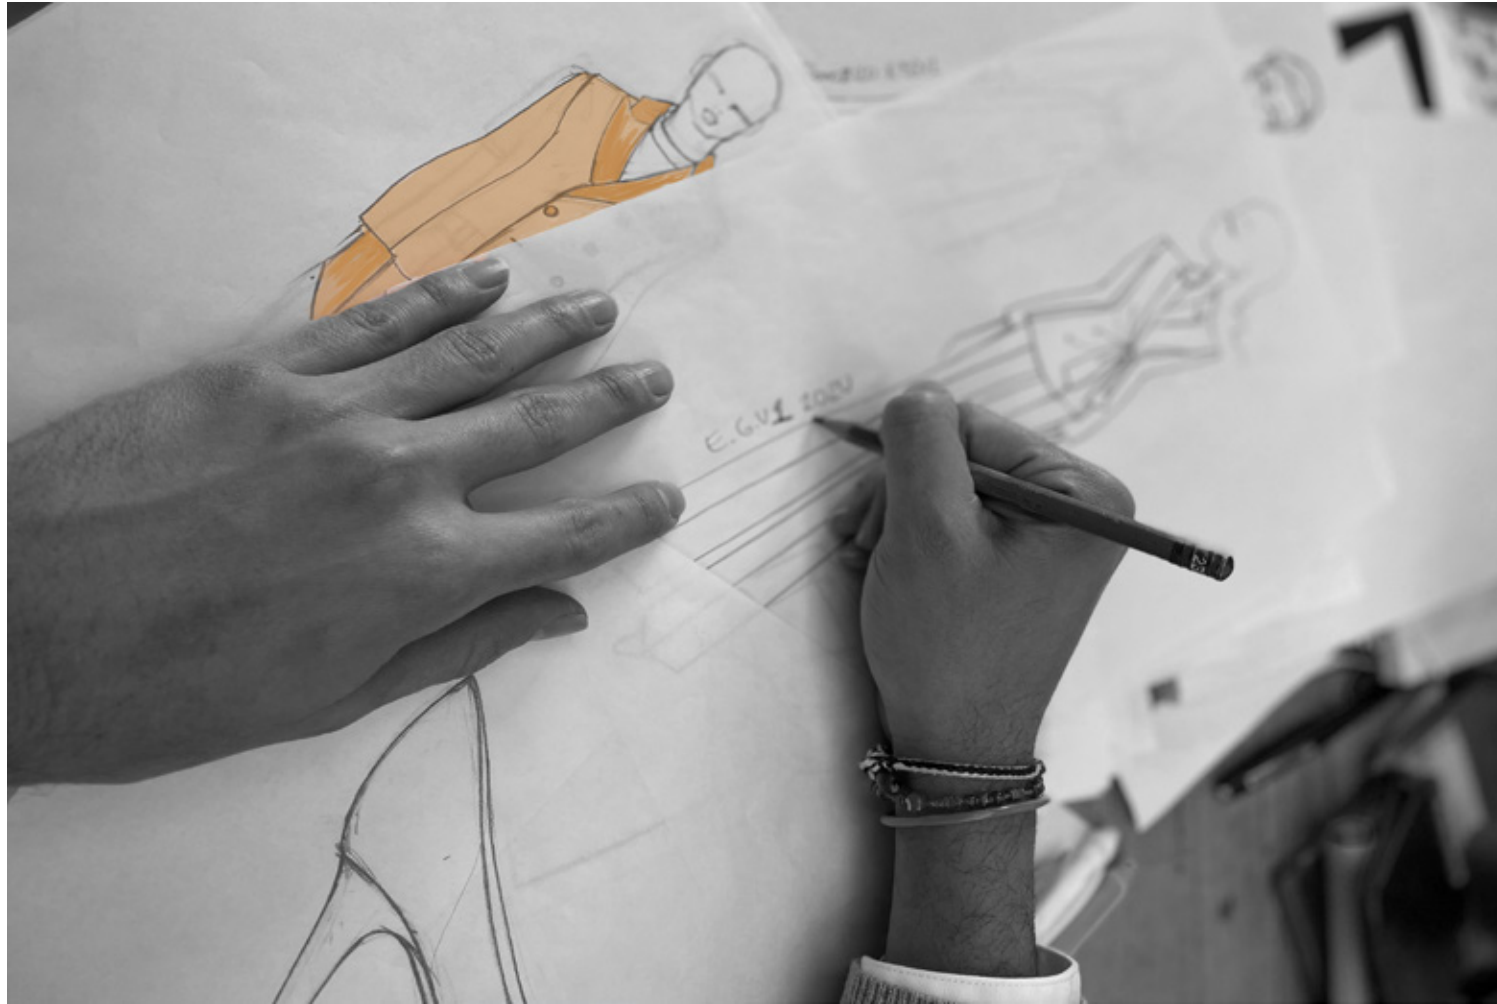

THE POWER OF THE UNIFORM

Why Wearing a Proper Uniform Is Important? Uniforms are a great team-building resource for your staff, and they can improve overall customer service as well as brand awareness. Company uniforms make it easy for buyers to locate employees in a crowd, cutting down on response time.

CREATIVITY

Creativity is the basis of the production process. A distinctive feature of EGV1 is the ability to blend one's intellectual curiosity and cultural interests with the search for new ideas, using an unconventional approach.

The creative process is based on a constant research activity and a continuous comparison oriented towards the birth of a real project culture, based on a well-defined methodology that guides the work of all the people involved.

FABRICS

Having quality raw materials is very important to obtain an optimal final result.

Their supply is entrusted to an internal structure of the company that directly selects suppliers by applying the criterion of the highest quality.

Technical, water-resistant and windproof fabrics are the most required by our customers who demand only the best for their team.

HOW WE WORK

The first step is the size detection, our “sartoria” staff transfer to the staff of the customer our know how in order to correctly manage the distribution.

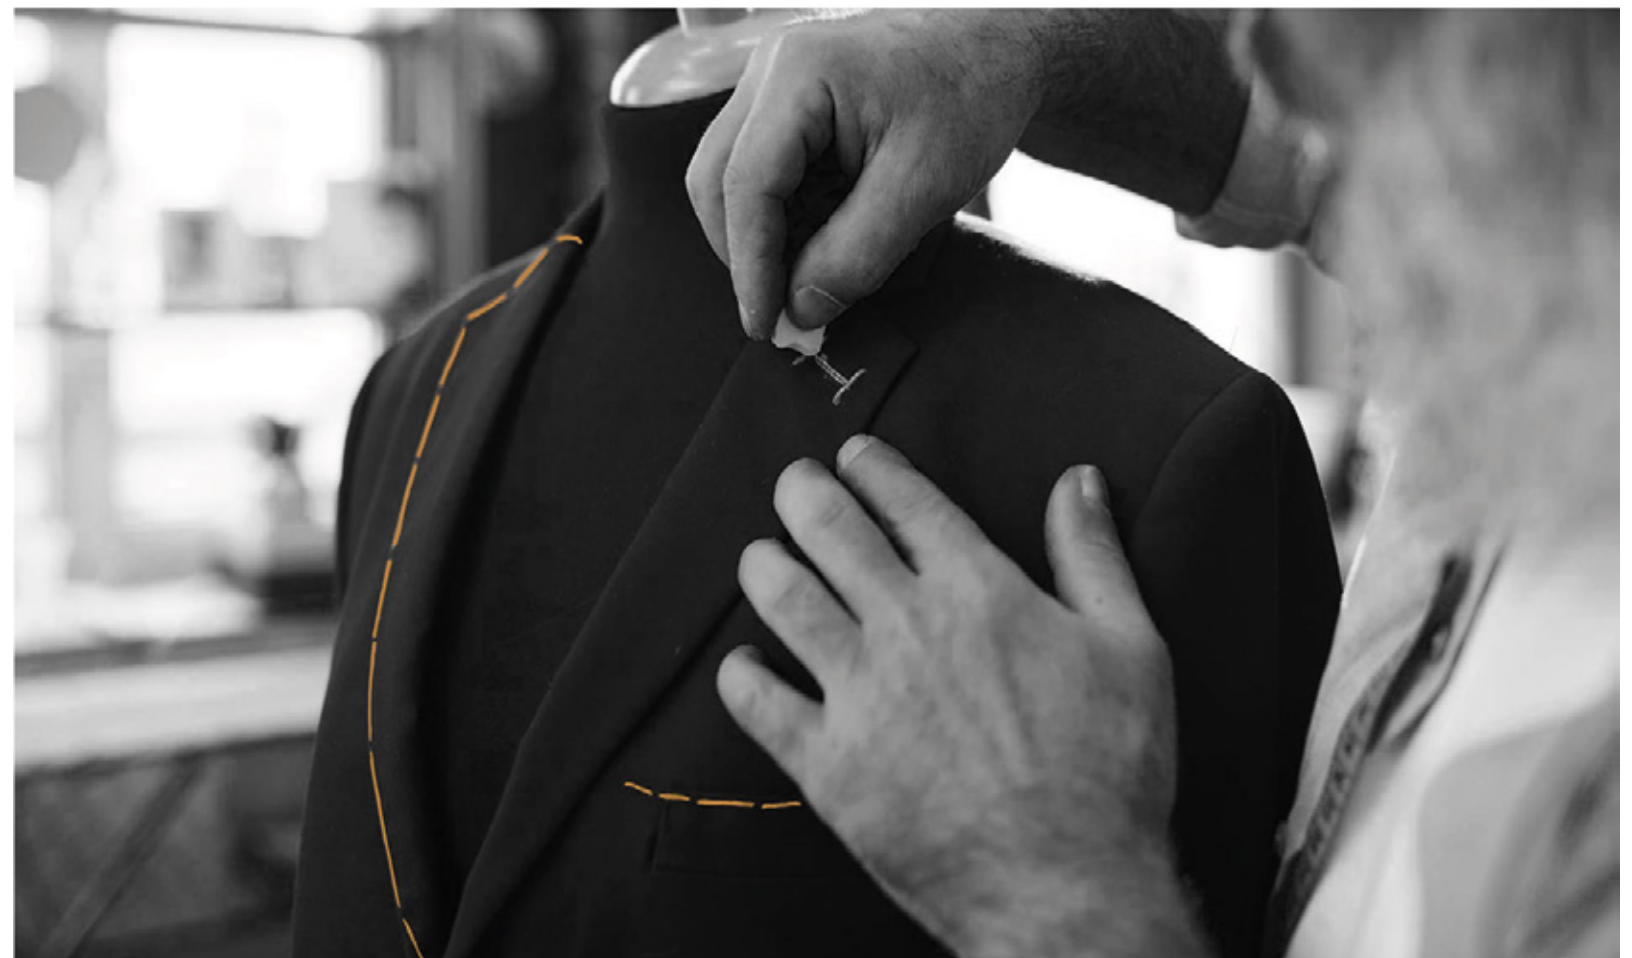

Warehouse Organization is set to locate the best suitable area where managing stock of uniforms and their distribution.

Production of the uniform items as agreed starts from the whole detection of the staff's sizes and confirmation of each sample produced from the modeling of creative proposals.

The uniform will be subsequently assembled in all its parts and in a nominal box after carrying out quality control, Tailoring adjustments where necessary with the support of suitable local staff.

We manage the distribution according to customer needs:

- Total shipment to customer warehouse;
- B2B service to constantly check availability by the customer and order as needed;
- B2C creation and management of a personalized website to direct sales to private customers.
